

Donna Donato; Vice President
Strategic Sourcing & Business Enablement / Global Supply Management American Express

Donna is currently the Vice President of Strategic Sourcing and Business Enablement for American Express, managing all supplier spend for the company. Donna leads a large, diverse team of colleagues operating in all regions globally partnering across all parts of business. Donna's approach to strategic sourcing is transforming American Express' procurement function into a competitive strategic asset for the company. Under Donna's leadership, American Express is experiencing more agility, speed-to-market while reducing operating costs, and increasing investment capacity for the business.

Donna comes to American Express after several leadership roles within the Life Sciences industry including Cigna, Pfizer, Zoetis and Bristol Myers Squibb. In these roles, Donna oversaw corporate spending in the areas of Technology, Finance, HR, Real Estate, Legal, Marketing and Professional Services. When she joined Zoetis leadership team, Donna not only stood up procurement organization for newly publicly traded company, but also established global real estate and facilities management function, managing real estate in about 100 countries. Throughout her career, Donna has structured strategic deals across multiple business units and drove innovative supplier strategies that delivered significant value to the business.

Donna is passionate about driving the procurement profession further in 21st century and changing perception of the profession. With her husband Chris, who is a global sales leader, they are a husband and wife team who sit at the seemingly opposite sides of the table, leading, structuring and closing large enterprise deals. At home, they sit at the dinner table managing life with three busy teenagers, a few pets, and an extended global family. Their deep experiences and divergent perspectives have led to unique insights around how business gets done. They are launching a series of conversations sharing their own experiences and stimulating discussion on how to drive the needed evolution of the sales and procurement professions.

Donna is a committed supporter of the advancement of woman, diversity and inclusion, mentoring and supporting many throughout her career. Donna contributes to several non-profit and humanitarian organizations focusing on sustainable positive impact in impoverished areas of the world. Donna is also an advisor for Tigerlabs, Princeton, New Jersey's first entrepreneurship center. Originally from Moscow, Russia, she lives with her family in Cranbury, New Jersey.
